

CPD Presentation Services

- Do you have content that is potential professional development material for land professionals?
- Do you have the time to create an interesting and effective presentation suited to the unique needs of adult learners?
- Are you wondering how to deliver a CPD session using distance learning methods and technologies?

Four Point Learning offers a full range of customized online learning services to assist Presenters in:

- mining presentation content for competencies and skills required by the professional surveyor;
- tailoring content into effective resources for adult learners;
- packaging and delivering learning resources via a Learning Management System;
- developing online learning assessment tools;
- using interactive whiteboard, web conferencing software as well as other hardware and software platforms.

The fee for these services depends on your specific requirements. We treat information in confidence and respect your ideas as your property.